Had a Severe Cold That Nothing Would Relieve

UNTIL LUNG-VITA WAS USED

Began to Improve Right Away and Is Now Feeling Fine.

"I have been suffering with a severe cold and had tried various remedies, but it seemed that nothing did me any good until I tried Lung-Vita," says Miss Margaret Renner, who lives at 1823 Ninth avenue, North, Nashville, Tennessee, in her statement of January 22, 1918. "I was in bad shape when I started on this medicine, but I soon found that I was getting better and now the cold and cough are both entirely gone. I am feeling fine and can say without any hesitancy that Lung-Vita has no equal as a remedy for coughs and colds."

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infect the bowels. From this mass of left-over waste, toxins and putrefactive-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headaches, colds, biliousness, constipation, aches who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make any one an enthusiast on the subject.

Parents of Wife-Slayer Tell of Fall and Injured Head When a Baby.

That Will Gossett was temporarily insane when he shot his wife and her stepfather, J. A. Walters, on Saturday night, will be his plea when he is arraigned in criminal court for trial. Mrs. Gossett died Sunday, and the condition of Walters is such that a preliminary hearing of Gossett has been postponed from Tuesday afternoon until such time as the stepfather of the dead girl will be able to appear.

Gossett's family regard him as "mentally dangerous," and, on account of his condition in this respect, declare that it is better for him to be confined in jail. On this theory they will refuse to allow bond to be made for him in the event developments allow the fixing of bail.

Within the next day or so the young man, who is only 20 years of age, will be examined as to his sanity, and experts will offer testimony in this connection at the trial.

O. W. Reeves, a young attorney, has been employed to represent the accused.

It became known Tuesday morning that the defense hopes to show that Gossett has always worked, has been a good provider and is a member of a good, Christian family. The defense will also seek to show that Walters and Gossett's wife have so harassed him from time to time by threats on his life and threats of arrest for offenses it is charged he did not commit as to drive him temporarily insane; furthermore, that when the officers went to arrest him Saturday night his mind was crazed.

It also became known that the defense expects to show that a relative of the dead girl had warned Gossett's father to get him away from them, as it was feared they would kill Will or succeed in getting him in the penitentiary. Another plea of the defense will be that by concerted action on the part of the wife and stepfather Gossett has become demoralized and has not acted rationally for some time. It is claimed that this has been noticeable to the young men's parents and friends.

Hurt His Head.

It is to be claimed that when a mere babe Will Gossett was injured in a severe fall, as a result of which it was necessary to keep his head bandaged for a year; that three or four years ago his mental condition became such that his parents were forced to send him to an industrial school.

Instead of a corroboration of the claim that his mind is not right, he is said to have stopped his sister on the street on one occasion and asked her for some change, when he had just been paid off and had in his possession quite a sum of money. The contention is made that he had never borrowed money from his people. On numerous occasions, it is said, he would get up in the dead hours of night, leave home and wander around, only to return later without his hat and coat.

As another instance of his mental condition it is said that while working for Charles McCleskey, a contractor, in East Lake, the latter part of last week he would pour three wheelbarrows of concrete while another workman would pour only one, and that when Mr. McCleskey called his attention to that fact he smiled at him in a peculiar way and said: "That's all right—I don't mind—it's not hurting me." He is said to have had a blank expression on his face when he made the remark.

Acted Queer.

According to Gossett's father, J. T. Gossett, it has been noticed that Will often seemed to be in a deep study, and, while engaged in conversation was apparently unable to concentrate his mind on the subject being discussed.

The defense will introduce many witnesses at the trial, and it is understood that about fifty people will be examined on both sides.

The elder Gossett objected to the marriage of his son, but his objections, coming too late, gave way to efforts to reconcile conditions. The young husband and his wife had been separated for about three weeks previous to the shooting.

Slapped Wife.

In regard to a recent charge of assault and battery against Gossett, Attorney Reeves stated Tuesday morning that this grew out of Gossett slapping his wife when she cursed him on the street. The husband submitted to the charge in a magistrate's court and was fined $2 and costs.

Miss Leona Gossett, a sister of the slayer, stated that she told Mrs. Walters she would gladly exchange places with the dead wife in an effort to right the wrong that had been done. She said she sought to console Mrs. Walters and that the sympathies of the family had been extended.

Miss Gossett, formerly a student at Central High school, explained that Mrs. Walters told her the tragedy was not her first trouble and that she could possibly stand it better than the Gossett family. Miss Gossett accompanied Mrs. Walters to the undertaking establishment of Wann & Son to view the body. When the mother gazed upon the lifeless form of her child she broke down and gave vent to her grief with piteous screams. Miss Gossett endeavored to quiet her.

J. T. Gossett, father of the accused man, is a contractor and has followed his business in Chattanooga for many years.

SOCIALISTS ACCEPT BRITISH MEMORANDUM

Albert Thomas Rebukes Hot-Headed Delegate Who Interrupts Speech.

Paris (Monday), Feb. 13.—The socialist national convention adopted today by a vote of 2,917 to 218, a resolution accepting as a basis of discussion by the inter-allied convention a memorandum prepared by the British section.

Albert Thomas, former minister of munitions, speaking for the majority of the committee on resolutions, said that a referendum regarding Alsace-Lorraine, though accepted by the majority and a greater part of the minority, must not be considered an indispensable condition previous to disannexation. He was interrupted by one delegate who shouted: "We don't care anything for Alsace-Lorraine."

M. Thomas brought the entire convention to its feet with an eloquent

STATE VETERINARIAN JACOB TREATS OF BOVINE TUBERCULOSIS

Annual Losses Throughout United States Amount to Millions of Dollars.

M. Jacob, V. M. D., state veterinarian, has provided for publication an interesting treatise on "Bovine Tuberculosis: Its Control and Eradication in Tennessee." The question discussed is of considerable importance at the present time and the work has been endorsed by the Tennessee food administration.

"Every state in the Union," says Dr. Jacob, "has its important problems relative to the control and eradication of contagious or communicable live stock diseases, among which bovine tuberculosis is included."

"The annual losses throughout the United States produced by bovine tuberculosis amounts to many millions of dollars. This loss is further aggravated by the ready transmission of this disease to swine. Coupling these losses with the possibility of infecting the human family, especially milk-fed children, impresses upon us the magnitude and importance of this great question which has already assumed a national issue."

"In view of the fact that bovine tuberculosis is not now very prevalent in Tennessee, it is a question of even greater importance, for the reason that its control and eradication under present conditions can be carried on more economically both from the standpoint of the breeder and the state. We are therefore not overlooking this opportunity."

Susceptibility.

"It should be understood that even though tuberculosis is not so prevalent among cattle in Tennessee, they nevertheless possess the same susceptibility as do the cattle of other states. Tennessee cattle live to a great extent on outdoor life, especially during the greater portion of the year, while those of the north are more closely housed. The former condition tends to retard its spread and the latter to hasten it."

Control Work.

"It is of interest to know that those cases of tuberculosis which have been found in Tennessee could in many instances be traced to its introduction from other states, and the recognition of this fact prompted the writer, in 1909, to draft a bill whereby it would become possible to prevent bringing into the state such tubercular cattle."

"While our laws and regulations compare favorably with those of any other state, there still remains to a certain extent the possibility of introducing cattle which might be harboring within their system the germ of tuberculosis. To further safeguard our herds it is the intention to make public within a very short time an official order now being drafted, which compels the re-testing in ninety days of all cattle brought into the state for breeding or dairy purposes."

Pure-Bred Herds.

"Some statistics which are now being compiled by the Tennessee department of agriculture show that tuberculosis in this state is largely confined to pure-bred herds, due to bringing cattle into these herds which originate where the disease is prevalent. As a result of this conclusion a definite and conservative campaign on tuberculosis eradication has begun in this state some time ago."

MILITARY MEN ENTERTAINED BY LOCAL CLUB; MANY ROUSING SPEECHES

The Rotary club, the Chattanooga Automobile club and the Chattanooga Club, clearing House association entertained with a dinner Monday evening at the Hotel Patten in honor of army officials at Camp Forrest. The dinner was purely a social event, at which some of the leading business men of Chattanooga were present. Albert Rogers acted as toastmaster.

Gen. James B. Erwin, commanding officer at Camp Forrest, one of the honored guests, spoke on the health of the community and urged those present to assist in every way to make the health conditions what they should be. He said that it was through the aid of the business men and a number of the undesirable conditions had been ameliorated, such as the sale of whisky, the vice conditions and many other things.

The relations between the men at Camp Forrest and the people of Chattanooga were discussed by Gen. W. H. Gordon, Gen. J. A. Gaston touched on the excellent preparations the United States government has made for the war and of the live spirit shown by the men.

Col. Henry Page, commanding officer of Camp Greenleaf, was the next speaker and he took the opportunity to invite those present to the dedication of the large new auditorium at medical camp, which will take place on March 13. He said that he expressed the hope that Secretary of War Baker would be able to be here for the dedication of the large auditorium. One of the most interesting talks of the evening was given by Dr. H. J. Koehler, the champion swordsman, formerly of West Point. He urged the men back home not to be slack, but to keep about as much encouragement.

He compared the silence of speech on Alsace-Lorraine. Referring to the interruption he said: "That coarse interruption reveals a doctrine which we will never accept because it is a doctrine of abdication and cowardice."

SUPPLY FUEL OIL CUT OFF, PLANTS TO CLOSE

General Electric Company Notifies Navy Department.

Tank Steamers Taken.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The General Electric company has notified the navy department that it shortly will have to shut down three of its great plants engaged on war orders for the United States and the allies because the shipping board's action in taking tank steamers of the Gulf Refining company for overseas traffic has cut off its supply of fuel oil.

These ships, employed in the trade between the Mexican oil fields and American gulf ports, were taken over recently, along with a great many other tankers and general cargo carriers, to supplement the merchant fleet supplying the naval and military forces abroad.

The situation has been brought to the attention of the shipping board, with a request that some arrangement be made immediately for delivering oil supplies to necessary industries.

SECRET SERVICE MEN PROBE EXPENDITURES

All Phases Enormous Cost of Government Shipyard at Hog Island Investigated.

Washington, Feb. 13.—Investigation of all phases of enormous expenditures in the building of the government shipyard at Hog Island, Pa., has been started by secret service men and other agents of the department of justice.

Upon the return to Washington today of Atty.-Gen. Gregory, it became known that Solicitor-General Davis, acting in his behalf, had launched the inquiry ordered by President Wilson. It is expected that in line with the president's suggestion the attorney-general will name a special assistant to conduct the investigation, but this probably will not be done until after the preliminary inquiries now under way have developed reports upon which to work.

The president took cognizance of the situation after evidence before the senate commerce committee had brought to light expenditures exceeding by millions the original estimates of the Hog Island plant being built by the American International Shipbuilding corporation.

AMERICAN ART WORKS AT VENICE TAKEN TO ROME

London, Feb. 13.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—American artists who contributed paintings, drawings or sculptures to the British section of the international exhibition in Venice in the summer of 1914 will be relieved of anxiety by the announcement that their contributions have been safely transferred to Rome. On the outbreak of the war these works of art, which could not then be returned owing to transport difficulty and war risks, were removed from the dangerous vicinity of the Arsenal to the basement of one of the palaces, where they remained until a short time ago. In view of the new danger to Venice, the Italian authorities transported the whole foreign exhibit to Rome.
